

Damsel in Distress of the Shuttle

LOCATION: Park & Ride Bus Stop

BACKSTORY

For the past 3 years here at SJSU, I have fought through the rain, hot weather, and angry students for a seat within the Park & Ride Shuttle, but to no avail. Every time I came close to entering this vehicle, the bus driver signals that it's full and then proceeds to slam the doors shut in front of my face. As I bid farewell with tears in my eyes, I headed back to the bus stop to sit in shame. However, when I was able to get inside the Shuttle, all seats were fulfilled and I have to use my signature pose: the finger hook and tippy-toe maneuver. As my body rocks back and forth attempting to hold on, I finally reach the parking lot and the cycle starts over. I am hoping one day the bus driver gives me priority seating for my efforts and short stature.

MOTTO

With this hand, I stand.

OR

With these fingers, my dignity lingers.

COAT OF ARMS

GLYPH

